FOREWORD

One BRIAR PATCH after another, stretching on and on! In our particular little Patch we have tried to gather the blossoms and berries that would bring most delight. If our cunning equals not that of Brer Rabbit, who, like us, belonged to a Briar Patch, we pray you to consider through how many fields we went chasing, how many stones we stumbled over, how many scratches we received—and made. You who follow our trail and are not wholly pleased, award us not the fate that befell Brer Wolf or Brer Fox.

DEDICATION

To

META GLASS

Our Honored President

II

We dedicate this annual to express our appreciation of what she has already done for us, and our faith in her ideals; and we promise her our loyal cooperation in her plans for Sweet Briar's growth and development.

HONORARY MEMBER

MISS CRAWFORD

Senior Class

RUTH ABEL

ARDMORE, PA.

Social Science

If you watch her smile once you will know more than we could ever tell—why poets are led to write sonnets, and why knights go to battle upon the inspiration of a fair lady.

HELEN ADAMS

SWARTHMORE, PA.

English

Quiet, studious and unassuming are hackneyed words, but when applied to Helen, they have an individuality like her own. When she shifts some of her responsibility to broader shoulders may she live happily ever after.

Senior Class

CORNELIA ATKINS
CINCINNATI, OHIO

History

Nell is often called reserved, but those who know her best realize that the sparkle of her blue eyes reflects her animation. She has a high academic standing. Her dignity is an added asset to her charm.

MARTHA BACHMAN
CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

English

Her personality is as varied yet as distinctive as an opal. She is dreamy, capable, musical, a lover of horses and books. She can easily be called the most individual girl in college.

Senior Class

DOROTHY BAILEY

PITTSBURGH, PA.

Social Science

What would we do without Dot, "the campus queen"? Perhaps books have not been her forte, yet her whole-hearted interest makes her an ideal pal. Nobody ever sees her hurrying or worrying, but she seldom fails to do what is expected of her.

ANNE BARRETT

BRISTOL, CONN.

French

Anne possesses just that little bit of dignity that goes to make up charm. She is one of the quiet kind, "whose nature never varies." Occasionally we meet people whom the longer we know the better we like. Such a person is Anne Barrett.

Senior Class

KATHERINE BLOUNT

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Chemistry

Under her calm dignity and poised reserve, there is evident a strength of character and quiet enthusiasm that impels us all. Hockey is her specialty and for two years she has been the captain of the team. She has a genius for leadership.

DOROTHY BOOTH

RICHMOND, VA.

Latin

With plenty of pep to carry her through the numerous dances that she regularly attends, plenty of sense to use when the time comes to study, and a talent for toe-dancing which we all admire, Dotty has won for herself a host of friends.

Senior Class

MARY BRISTOL

WARSAW, N. Y.

Social Science

No one would deny that everyone loves Mary. Though so tiny she couldn't spare an inch, she somehow always lets us know she's there. Her manner is always easy and friendly.

ANNETTE BROWN

GREENVILLE, PA.

Biology

If you want something done well and quickly, ask Brownie; if you want a friend, that's Brownie. She always greets you with a smile and a happy word.

Senior Class

KATHERINE BRUCE

ORANGE, TEXAS

English

A never failing and clever wit makes her the best of company. She did not come to Sweet Briar for all four years, but we are glad that she came three anyway.

HELEN CARTER

LAUREL, MISS.

French

Undying energy and enthusiasm are Helen's, just the qualities that we all like. Added to these are fidelity, and a taste for the domestic; this is fortunate, considering the circumstances.

Senior Class

MARTHA CLOSE
PITTSBURGH, PA.

Mathematics

If sweetness and attractiveness could be estimated in figures, it might be shown in this space how much she has. We, however, are not the only ones who have recognized this fact. There is one particular individual waiting anxiously for her to graduate.

ELIZABETH COBB
KINGSTON, PA.

French

An attractive disposition that suits her type is Cobby's; and a style that is unique and pleasantly conspicuous. There is about her something Oriental with American wholesomeness added to it.

Senior Class

JANE CUNNINGHAM

AMHERST, VA.

English

All of us have not had the good fortune to count her friendship as ours, yet we who do know Jane value her quiet influence among us as one of the best things of our college life.

MARIETTA DARSIE

ERIE, PA.

Sociology

Because of her happy disposition, unobtrusive kindness, and unselfishness, she means a great deal to all with whom she comes in contact, and proves a real friend.

Senior Class

MARGARETTA DENMAN
CRANFORD, N. J.

Sociology

She has a pleasing assurance of manner that has enabled her to undertake leading the chaperone committee with perfect ability. We can't say that it suits Peggy to drive men off campus; she is better, we think, in the opposite capacity.

POLLY CAREY DEW
SWEET BRIAR, VA.

History

Polly Carey combines a lovely face with an unusually brilliant mind. She surpasses us in so many things that we have naturally acquired the habit of looking up to her.

Senior Class

ADELAIDE DOUGLASS

WASHINGTON, D. C.

French

Really it amounts to genius! She always looks like a Coles Phillips blonde (plus outer garments); she attends every dance in Virginia and surrounding states, and she smilingly passes all her courses. Peggy, we would like to know the secret.

ESTELLE DROEGE

CLEVELAND, OHIO

Social Science

She is the possessor of a splendid gift—a cheerful disposition. Besides being capable and efficient, she has qualities of friendliness that endear her to us all.

Senior Class

PAGE DUNLAP
CHARLESTON, W. VA.

French

She may be one of the listeners in a crowd, but wait until she is alone with her chosen few, and you will find the quiet Page of the outside world the fun-loving, jolly pal.

MARGARET ELLIOTT
COLUMBIA, S. C.

Mathematics

Her refined and naive manner create an impression that is hard to forget. Combined with this is all the good sense that a girl could want. She is our idea of the traditional Southern girl.

Senior Class

GUDRUN ESKESEN

WESTFIELD, N. J.

French

She is a friend who by being a friend, has made friends in turn. Goodie is the kind who will never refuse to do a favor for you. With her qualities of good nature and loyalty, we predict a happy future for her.

MRS. PEYTON EVANS

AMHERST, VA.

English

This Senior Class should, and does, deem itself extremely fortunate that Mrs. Evans came back to be one of its graduates. With her tact, ambition and ability, she has made herself one of its most esteemed members.

Senior Class

HELEN FINCH
PALISADES PARK, N. J.

History

From New Jersey Helen brought with her plenty of Northern energy as well as efficiency. She has assurance and cleverness and a certain vivacity of manner.

ELINOR GREEN
LOCK HAVEN, PA.

French

She has a consistent good-naturedness that is almost contagious. Her qualities are those of dependability and pleasantness in work and play.

Senior Class

DOROTHY HAMILTON

PITTSBURGH, PA.

Social Science

She is spontaneous to a delightful degree. She is always happy, and makes you want to be happy with her. The world would probably be a better place if there were more who resembled her.

HELEN HASELTINE

CHICAGO, ILL.

History

She has the gift, so rare except among professional humorists, of making others see things in the same humorous light in which she herself sees them.

Senior Class

TAVENNER HAZELWOOD

DANVILLE, VA.

Sociology

Light-hearted fun and all the bounty of happiness belong to Tab. There is something about her that reminds us one moment of an enthusiastic child, and the next of a slightly sophisticated modern girl—a variety that is captivating.

JEANETTE HOPPINGER

CLEVELAND, OHIO

Social Science

A suggestion of things foreign and a quiet refined manner mark her as an unusual girl. She is another who came to Sweet Briar for only three years.

Senior Class

MILDRED HUDSON

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Social Science

Milly never lacks the courage of her convictions; she is self-assured, observant, interesting, proficient in many fields.

GERTRUDE INGERSOLL

WILMETTE, ILL.

Philosophy

Her scarcity of pounds is more than made up for by her brilliance of intellect. In fact, she is one of the proofs of the superiority of mind over matter.

Senior Class

WANDA JENSCH

HUNSON, WIS.

Social Science

Wanda's temperament is of the elusive type. One cannot determine just the elements, but one realizes that essential and character-forming qualities are there. In Wanda we find a girl who may be depended on for the success of any undertaking.

DOROTHY KELLER

PITTSBURGH, PA.

Mathematics

Dot radiates friendliness and good cheer, and her friends, who are many, seek her company for the joy she constantly casts about her.

Senior Class

MARGARET KRIDER

PITTSBURGH, PA.

Social Science

Competence seems to assert itself in her manner, but combined with this is something enlivening which makes those who know her little, always want to know her more.

MARGARET LAIDLEY

PITTSBURGH, PA.

Mathematics

She is as generous and open-hearted as she is a good sport. She is loyal and pleasant, and because of this she constantly creates around her many agreeable impressions.

Senior Class

EDNA LEE
MONTCLAIR, N. J.
Social Science

Edna is very versatile, there is nothing she cannot do; yet all she does is done well. The offices she has held here at Sweet Briar show her ability as well as her popularity.

MARY E. LOUGHERY
EDINBURG, IND.
Sociology

The fact that Mary Elizabeth was awarded the Manson Memorial Scholarship speaks for her ability. She has idealism combined with practical sense.

Senior Class

MILDRED LOVETT

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.

French

She is the kind of girl that you instinctively look up to. To see her is to know that she is a sincere and sympathetic friend as well as a charming one, and to know her is to love her for always.

JOYCE MACGREGOR

PITTSBURGH, PA.

English

We will always remember "Sis" by the vivacity and pep she has kept going strong throughout her four years, not only in clogging and music, but in everything else she has done. She firmly adheres to the old adage: "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

Senior Class

DOROTHY McKEE
WILKINSBURG, PA.

Sociology

Dottie is so very pretty that she doesn't need all of the other qualities that we, the less fortunate ones, must have to carry us through, but the remarkable part of it is, that she has them anyway.

ALBERTA MacQUEEN
KATONAH, N. Y.

English

Self-contained, assured and well-read, Bertie moves among us with a pleasant dignity. A finer girl could not be found; her real depth is realized only when you know her or work with her.

Senior Class

VIRGINIA MACK
CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

Botany and History

Virginia has the briskness that often accompanies smallness such as hers. She has often excited the envy of her classmates, when because of her brilliance she has been able to treat her many hours of History and Science as a mere pastime.

MARGARET MALONE
PITTSBURGH, PA.

Social Science

Here is a sense of humor and mischievousness that keeps you on the alert every moment. There is no such thing as being dull and despondent when you are with Peggy.

Senior Class

ELIZABETH MATTHEW

HASTINGS-ON-HUDSON, N. Y.

Chemistry

Chemistry is her forte, but unless you knew it you would hardly associate her blonde bobbed hair and dainty aloofness with test tubes and hydrogen-sulphide and A grades. She has a quaint and attractive dignity.

ANNE MAYBANK

CHARLESTON, S. C.

History

Suggestions of delicate perfumes and old-fashioned bouquets emanate from "Miss Anne's" personality. She is quiet but alert. The man has yet to be found who can withstand her charms.

Senior Class

SARAH MERRICK

CLEVELAND, OHIO

Social Science

Small and animated she is an infallibly entertaining conversationalist. She has marked dramatic ability, and makes a captivating heroine.

ELIZABETH MOORE

HADDONFIELD, N. J.

French

Striking describes Betty. She is tall and blond and poised. Her abilities lie in many directions and the necessary energy to exercise them is not lacking.

Senior Class

HELEN MUTSCHLER
LANCASTER, PA.

French

She has a gentleness of manner that gives her a distinction which others who are more self-assertive fail to gain. Quiet humor is evident in her smile.

HENRIETTA NELSON
COLUMBIA, S. C.

French

The gift of making people like her as soon as they meet her is Retta's. The fact that she is a fine all-round girl is evident in her face and manner.

Senior Class

PRISCILLA NOLL
MARTINSBURG, W. VA.

Social Science

Those who have been fortunate enough to break through "Pud's" reserve have found her pleasant and interesting. Combine energy with ability, sympathy and sincerity and you have some idea of what she is like.

KATHRYN NORRIS
BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Sociology

"K" is all that the term good sport denotes. She is cosmopolitan in her interests and possesses a spicy bit of mischief mixed with her genuine fineness. Her devotion to, and success with the Drive, are a proof of her marked executive ability, and have won for her the gratitude of Sweet Briar.

Senior Class

LOIS PETERSON

LAKEWOOD, PA.

Sociology

Lois is another one of our athletes, but that is only one of her accomplishments. As a worker she is all that one could want, and her energy is unbounded.

KATHERINE PEYTON

SHREVEPORT, LA.

English

She is one of those people who know how to mix frivolity and seriousness in a delightful way, and at the same time accomplish whatever she may have to do. She is a girl that everybody likes.

Senior Class

MARGARET POSEY
LANCASTER, PA.

History

Peggy's ability to learn much with little study is known throughout school. It must be nice to become an honor student as easily as she has. In addition, she is athletic and has great business ability.

DOROTHEA REINBURG
CANUTILLO, TEXAS

French

Her small and dainty appearance and naive poise suggest fragile delicate things. Her ingenuousness is her attraction and suits to perfection her blonde hair and blue eyes.

Senior Class

MARGARET REINHOLD

ARDMORE, PA.

French

Peg has won fame for herself and her class in the field of athletics and no varsity team has been complete without her. In the race track of life we wish that she'll always hold first place.

ELIZABETH ROUNTREE

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

Social Science

It doesn't seem fair that a girl should have as many admirable qualities as Lyb—intellect, executive ability, moral force, a stunning appearance and a fascination that results in more than popularity—in adoration.

Senior Class

MARJORIE SHEPHERD
KINGSTON, PA.

French

Her originality, her wit, her optimism make her a sought after companion, and her popularity is not difficult to explain. Her cleverness is to be admired because it brings pleasure and never chagrin.

CATHERINE SHULENBURGER
HAGERSTOWN, MD.

English and History

To meet "Shuley" it is necessary to break through a barrier of courteous reserve. Within we find a warm hospitable friend, who converses with wisdom, frankness and force.

Senior Class

VIRGINIA LEE TAYLOR

NEW YORK CITY

English

We do not know anyone who can combine carefree jollity with dignity as well as Jinny-Lee, and she has supplied us with many current sayings. She never fails to display her big heart and her willingness to help.

KATHERINE TRACY

URBANA, ILL.

English

There is a quick step, a ripple of laughter, a flash of brightness, and Tracy has passed. At times, too, she assumes a dignity and a poise that intensifies her unique charm.

Senior Class

BARBARA WARE
OGUNQUIT, MAINE

French

Quiet, gentle, yet friendly, that's Barbara. Her smile radiates the generosity of her nature. "Bee" treads softly through this gray old world, straight into the hearts of all who know her.

MARY T. WATKINS
HENDERSON, N. C.

History

She has a never ceasing pep, a cheery disposition, enough devilment to make life pleasant; but she is by no means devoid of a serious thought.

Senior Class

RUTH WEITZENKORN

WILKES-BARRE, PA.

French

She is a girl that is different. She is a glorious mixture of whimsicality, fineness, unconventionality and a carefree attitude towards life.

MARGARET WHITE

ROCK ISLAND, ILL.

French

She is the kind of a girl who at first sight seems old-fashioned, yet when you know her better you find that her ideas are decidedly modern. The combination is desirable.

Senior Class

KATHLEEN WILLIS

SHREVEPORT, LA.

French

We have in Kathleen a profusion of rare gifts—beauty, sweetness, gentleness and ability. If there is such a thing as quiet vivacity, she has it.

Student Government Association

Upon the petition of the students for self-government, in which there was felt to be dignity and honor, and by which the students might assume individual and collective responsibility in matters not strictly academic, the Student Government Association of Sweet Briar College came into being. From that early date it has been the aim of the Association to build up the highest sense of honor, personal and collective, in the Student Body. It was a high ideal of government, but its success has proved that girls can learn the problem of control without the weight of force or the hand of immediate supervision.

By this principle of self-development in a social group, the Student Government Association makes of the student a social being, carefully regarding others' rights and her own duties and privileges as a member of that group. In so doing it tends to produce a woman of such moral fibre as to raise the standards and ennoble the life of the community in which she takes her place.

Sweet Briar Christian Association

The spirit which the Sweet Briar Christian Association attempts to spread is that of friendship. It tries to help meet the problems on the campus as well as those in the neighboring community. The practical social work that is done is in its help with the children at the Mission, County Nurse, Almshouse and this year with the Amherst children in furnishing them a story-telling hour twice a month. For a successful accomplishment of its task, the Association requires the co-operation not only of the Cabinet, but of every member of the Student Body.

Dramatic Association

The creation and development in ourselves of an active interest in all branches of the drama is the primary aim of the Dramatic Association at Sweet Briar. We feel that the organization of Paint and Patches furthers this aim, and with the steadily increasing helpfulness and interest of its members we are hoping to develop to an even greater degree this phase of college life. Although our dramatic facilities are decidedly limited we feel that the spirit which now pervades both active and associate members of the organization, and which we know will increase, will surmount the present difficulties, and in a short time we will have not only an interested group of girls, but a Little Theatre of which we may be proud.

Student Drive

"Strive for the Drive" has been an ever present word on the lips of every student and member of the Faculty in the college this year. Everyone has loyally supported it and worked to help raise the quota necessary before we can successfully lay the foundation stone for our gym and little theater. The alumnae have an active interest; Dr. Glass is behind us. Besides the regular yearly pledges, athletic store, etc., semi-monthly movies and rotation bridges have been in vogue. We are hoping for outside aid within the next year.

The Biology Club was one of the first departmental organizations at Sweet Briar. It was founded in 1924 with the purpose of furthering an interest in biological sciences. At the bi-monthly meetings there are discussions of current scientific interest and papers by the members. Eligibility for membership is based on the scholarship of work done in the department. This year the club is sending a representative to the Woods Hole Research Laboratory for the summer session and hopes to make this an annual occurrence.

The purpose of this organization is to promote the study of history outside the class room and the library. Its aims are to keep in touch with the issues and problems of the present day, and to study the past at its own door—in the history of the surrounding countryside. The History Club has for its special attention this year the study of the old houses in the county and the life in the pre-factory days.

The Classical Club was organized last year on a rather tentative basis and while its second year finds it still in a beginning stage, there is a more confident feeling, and a great hope for its future organization. Inspired by Dr. Dutton, Miss Newell and our new honorary member, Dr. Glass, we not only hope to foster interest in Latin and Greek but to interest our members in the human personalities of the writers, the life of the ancients, and the universality and living force of the classics.

SWEET BRIAR, 34, vs. WILLIAM AND MARY, 0
At Sweet Briar

On November the fourteenth, Varsity defeated William and Mary. In spite of the rain everyone turned out—especially the cheering section. Although the field was muddy and slippery the Sweet Briar team managed to pile up a score of 34, and to hold William and Mary from scoring. The game was distinguished by splendid teamwork.

SWEET BRIAR, 2, vs. WESTHAMPTON, 1
At Sweet Briar

The game with our old rivals was played on November the twenty-first, and was one of the most exciting ever played here. It was hard fought every second, and the outcome was doubtful till the final whistle was blown. Westhampton made the first goal, but the splendid work of our back line kept them from scoring again, although they were several times very near the goal. The passing was excellent, and the quickness and sureness of the forward line as it advanced was remarkable; altogether the Sweet Briar team deserves great credit for the manner in which the game was played. The final score was 2-1 in favor of Sweet Briar.

Varsity Basketball Games

WILLIAM AND MARY, 25, vs. SWEET BRIAR, 21
at Lynchburg

The first game of the season was staged at the Lynchburg Y. W. C. A. gymnasium on February 13, and was lost to William and Mary by a score of twenty-five to twenty-one. The latter had emerged the victor from two previous games with other institutions and was well-grounded in teamwork. Sweet Briar seemed to possess strong players, but was unable to equal her opponents in teamwork. It was a case of a green team against a well-seasoned one; otherwise they seemed closely matched. The guards were the outstanding strength of the Sweet Briar team, saving time and again what seemed an impossible situation. During the second half, Sweet Briar's playing improved, but the team reached no high level as a smooth running organization.

LINE-UP:

Sweet Briar		William and Mary
McDiarmid	F	Love (Captain)
Compton	F	Ethridge
Lamb	C	Brown
Boone	S.C.	Wilkins
Gilchrist (Captain)	G	Tompkins

Substitutions: Sunderland for McDiarmid; Reinhold for Sunderland; Peterson for Lamb; Claybrook for Compton; Compton for Claybrook; Bunting for Williams; Williams for Bunting.

SWEET BRIAR, 37, vs. WESTHAMPTON, 23
at Richmond

The second game, February 27th, found Sweet Briar facing Westhampton in the University of Richmond Gymnasium, supported loyally by past, present, and even future Sweet Briar students. If varsity lost the first game on account of lack of teamwork and aggressive play, certainly the second game was won by a vigorous demonstration of those qualities. Taking an early lead, Sweet Briar was not to be beaten, and the final score showed thirty-seven to twenty-three in her favor. There were no stars in the game but every player filled her position well, teaming up with the others in splendid style. Mention must be made of the many girls who failed to make the varsity team by a small margin but whose attendance at practices and competition for the positions did much to strengthen the players who arrived.

Old Bus Rhea, come blow your horn,
The train's at the station, the bus should be gone.
Where is Bus Rhea, why won't he come on?
He's shooin' the girls from off his front lawn.

It wasn't Miss Muffet
Who sat on a tuffet
Out in Bus Rhea's back yard;
But our good old friend, Ruth
Smoking Luckys forsooth
She tried to inhale so hard.
(Luckily the infirmary wasn't far away).

Margaret Cucullu, so very peculiar,
Craved going to V. M. I.
After a long tête-à-tête
With an awful blind date
She said, "What a jackass was I."

Sing a song of sad dates
All wet as they could be
Four and twenty "cute" boys
Some girls came down to see.
But when the gym was started
And we refused to break,
They all looked mortified to death
"There must be some mistake."

"ABILITY"

SOMEONE has defined "Ability" as that something which tells us that we can do the task set before us. The something referred to must have been "Experience," for before we can perform a task correctly we must know how to go about it.

OUR long experience in serving customers satisfactorily, especially the women-folk, has given us the ability to buy the best to advantage, to sell at as reasonable prices as possible, and to give our customers the utmost in service. Think of this store as constantly using its experience and ability for the benefit of its customers as well as its own progress.
